The President's Column

Not too much to report as President this month. There's still the activity at the Groton Middle School which will conclude the first section December 13 with a VE session. We hope to have a bunch of new Hams from that. Then depending on the interest it may continue after the Holidays for the Technician part of the course. We have also been talking about starting another Novice/Tech class early next year. If we are going to do that we really need to drum up some students soon. So if you know someone who might be interested we need to get their names and check the interest level. There won't be any events like Septemberfest to draw prospects from.

Time is really flying, so I must be having a good time? Well, took my own advice and got my east facing Yagi (wire) and 160 meter dipole up. Now I'm ready to settle in for the winter. The Yagi's worked well for me during CQWW. So even though they don't look like much, they are an improvement over the old dipole.

Elsewhere in the newsletter Clint is starting a swap/for sale column. It should be a good way to move out some of that junk under your feet at the operating position. I can keep it full for awhile myself.

Just a reminder, the VE session in Groton is open to all but will only be testing for Novice/Tech and 5 wpm. There is a regular VE session December 11th at 9:00 in Nashua.

A Letter From the Editor

This month is the start of something new. Elsewhere in the issue you will find "The Swap Shoppe". This will be a place for you (and I) to Sell, Buy, Trade or give away items that are of interest to other hams. Time to clean out the stuff you hid under the Ham Bench or to ask if anyone has a certain "doohickie" that you need for a project you have in mind.

This Months Speaker

This month's speaker is YOU! December is "Home Brew" night. This is your chance to bring in the project you built or are building to show to the club. It can be a HAM related project or anything else. Show some of your other talents and interests. This is a time to get to know each other better. It is also a time when ideas are exchanged and many future plans are made.
